

With rhino populations across Africa under constant pressure from an ongoing poaching epidemic, we have been tasked to go to extremes to protect this key African species.

A population of rhino under our mandates is constantly facing the possibility of being brutally

We are dehorning the whole population as a deterrent against poaching.

This painless procedure of removing the horn, gives our rhinos a better chance of survival.

By removing the incentive to poachers, they have a better chance at survival.

WE NEED YOUR HELP, this is a costly procedure that can't be postponed or delayed.

Our specialised team consist of Veterinarians, helicopter pilots, crew and our conservation team. This procedure costs upward of R10 000 per animal.
